NORTHSTANDARD - HEALTH AND SAFETY STATEMENT

NorthStandard, one of the largest marine insurers in the world, is fully committed to ensuring the health, safety and wellbeing of our people, members, contractors, visitors, and anyone who may be affected by our business activities – at all times.

As a minimum, we comply with the UK's Health and Safety at Work Act, and the relevant health and safety legislation in the countries where we operate.

Ongoing review and improvement is key to providing a safe working environment that supports people's physical and mental health and wellbeing. We regularly review our health and safety practices and policies to ensure we continue to deliver the highest standards.

We will:

- Provide sufficient resources (as far as is reasonably practicable) to ensure and maintain safe working conditions, so as to prevent injury or ill-health to our staff, contractors and visitors. This includes:
 - our premises (offices and work areas), equipment, processes and procedures
 - all use, handling, storage and disposal of equipment and substances; and
 - work undertaken on other people's premises and the precautions needed to ensure the safety of our staff and others who may be affected by our work.
- Give suitable and sufficient information, instruction and supervision to our people and contractors, so as to ensure their safety and health at work, and to protect those who may be affected by our business activities.
- Give suitable and sufficient training to our people, so as to ensure their safety and health at work, and to protect those who may be affected by our business activities.
- Prevent accidents and cases of work-related ill health by managing the health and safety risks within the business; identifying, mitigating, managing and monitoring risks with the aim of minimising incident rates to the lowest levels that are reasonably practical.
- We will consult with our people through our Health and Safety Committees, encouraging their involvement and commitment to health and safety through discussion.
- We report to the Managing Directors on health and safety matters via the risk report to Risk and Compliance on a quarterly basis.
- Seek external competent advice where necessary.
- Regularly review our policy (each policy document will carry a recommended review date) and evaluate our health and safety performance (with formal reviews at least annually).
- Where appropriate, escalate health and safety incidents and emerging risks through our risk management framework.

Whilst NorthStandard will drive this commitment to health and safety it is important to recognise that our people must take reasonable care of themselves and others whilst working, including complying with all necessary health and safety requirements.

Further details on roles, responsibilities and procedures can be found in our more detailed Health and Safety Policy documents.
